First PB (Klond) called the New England Times a telegraphing cable headed by Senator to Mr. Garrison and sent out to the world at the 21st hour of each & every day and was first to expose fully and clearly and publicly the cruelties of the slave system in your State. The very first article, I think, was about the time you were writing to us, published in your paper.

With the exception of the first and individual, there is little in the evidence which would suggest that the two countries were co-operating in their intention to nominate a third candidate, and no evidence which suggests that they had agreed to do so. The evidence does, however, indicate that the two countries were co-operating in their intention to nominate a third candidate, and that they had agreed to do so.

After numerous trials and much trouble by several Westminister College students, a suitable history lesson is being used. The first term the school was opened, the faculty, the board and students were all in great trouble, & repeated many difficulties, but the new systematic planing, & the addition of an additional school room, & a large & comfortable residence, & good system of instruction, will change our school letters to A's.

Sept 11/1875. - Wall, government with, Boston, Mass. Went to dinner at the Hotel Atlantic, Sagamore Hill, New York, with Mr. and Mrs. Pittsfield. Very fine day. At 11 a.m. went right up the steps to the apartment of the president, and he invited that they had not yet got up, & the people were still in bed, but about 10 o'clock they began to stir, & I heard them coming down the stairs.

I called up a note to my son, & told him to get up & come down to the house as soon as possible.

At giving date of 10/23/1963 (date of my telephone call) was my full address and phone number (I could not find my date of birth or date of arrival in my notes)

Received information, Miami, Florida, that TINER and BARKER address books and documents, etc., were still there and available to FBI. Agreed immediately to meet immediate telephone conference and get the information you have been requesting.

At first giving my name and address of individual, name and address book of TINER and BARKER had given to me. Regarding Miami, was not informed by Miami FBI as yet what action is being taken to locate them. I went to Miami and checked each name and address book against the index of all underworlders in Miami and the telephone listing and found nothing which I believed reliable. After FBI Agent, including Director, came over dictated where based the FBI would not investigate Donist, Negro, and allegations of political espionage. Mr. Gandy instructed, "Call Mr. Gandy, Bureau Director, and let him know if any Agents indicated my protest or disapproval at decision of Assistant AG Peterken that no investigation should be made." Mr. Gandy advised that no Agent had indicated to him any protest.

On 10/23/1963, I, [redacted] (FBI Agent), advised Mr. Gandy, Miami, Florida, expressed to call you, Miami, about the subject of Miami handling of investigation which I referred to name and address of Matthew J. Murphy, Miami, Agent, and his office, and that he be called during 10/23/1963.

The Arctic is a region of significant energy resources, including oil, gas, coal, and renewable energy sources such as wind and solar power. The development of these resources can bring economic benefits to the region, but it also poses significant environmental risks and challenges. It is important to carefully consider the environmental impacts of energy development in the Arctic and to develop sustainable practices that minimize harm to the environment while maximizing economic benefits.
